A FASHIONABLE LADY'S PRAYER.
BY W. FELCH.

"Give us this day our bread,"
And pies and cake besides,
To load the stomach, pain the head,
And choke the vital tides;
And if too soon a friend decays,
We'll talk of "God's mysterious ways,"
And lay it all to thee.

Give us to please a morbid taste,
In spite of pain and death,
Consumption strings around the waist,
Almost to stop the breath,
Then if infirmity attends
Our stunted progeny,
We'll lay it all to thee.

Give us big bustles in the rear, (We ask it not in fun),
A thing for corn-field crows to fear,
And hens to roost upon,
And if we heat the hips and spine,
What matter should it be?
When sickness follows, we can whine,
And lay it all to thee.

Give us good houses, large and tall,
To look the cabins down,
And servants lodging at our call,
And shaking at our frown.
The poor, however worthy they,
We'll treat right scornfully!
Then sixpence pay, consumption day,
And settle up with thee.

We do disdain to toil and sweat,
Like girls of vulgar brood!
O labor, give us not a bit,
For physic, nor for food,
And if we want of exercise,
We lack the stammering
Of those who trample and despise,
We'll lay it all to thee.

If any curse we have forgot,
That on a votary,
Fashion lets fall, withhold it not,
But send it grievously,
And if too hard to misanthrope light
For frail humanity,
We'll never blame ourselves a mite,
But lay it all to thee.

Yes give us coffee, wine and tea,
And hot things introduced,
The stomach's warm bath thrice a day,
To weaken and reduce!
And if, defying nature's laws,
Dyspepsia we must be,
We scorn to search for human cause,
But lay it all to thee.

PROCLAMATION.
BY JAMES WHITECOMB,
Governor of the State of Indiana.

The approaching close of the year, 1847, suggests to the Governor, an important duty, which he is bound to perform, in the discharge of which he is aided by the wisdom and counsel of his friends.

It is the duty of the Governor, to review the past year, and to prepare a report to the people, in which he shall state the progress of the State, and the measures which he has taken, to promote the welfare of the people.

Setting out Trees.

The season for trans-planting trees during autumn will commence long and a few hints upon the subject, at this time, may not be unseasonable.

We like the autumn season rather the best for transplanting trees, and most of the ornamental trees, for the following reasons:
viz: We generally have more time to perform the operation, and of course can set out more, and do it better, than in the spring, when a press of business, as most of us are, in this State, when our seasons are short, and the transition from winter to summer, rapid.

The trees themselves, if properly placed, get settled as we Yankees say, and are all ready to take an early start in the spring, as any others. As soon as the frost comes, and the growth of the season becomes checked, you may commence operations—and it is a very good plan to divest the tree of its leaves, by picking them off, if any remain. They will not then act as pumps to start any circulation of the sap, which the roots will not be able to supply, any length of time, without being finally placed in the soil, so as to obtain, by its spongy, suitable material for a supply.

Cultivation of the Quince.—The Quince bush, from some cause, is not little cultivated in this country. Although the fruit is in great demand, and commands so high a price, yet our market is by no means supplied. The value of the Quince for preserves is too well known to require comment, and we would recommend attention to the cultivation of this fruit than has yet been bestowed on it.

The Quince thrives best in a rich, loamy soil, and planted by the side of a ditch, shell, or cow-house, grows and bears well. It is a very hardy tree, and must not be planted in any other place, being best adapted to the soil, and to branch out in the most vigorous manner; although there is no tree that requires pruning more than it does, and no tree that will pay better for the attention bestowed on it than the Quince.

The Quince tree is propagated by putting out cuttings in the spring, precisely the same as gooseberries and currants. Pruning, as before said, is especially necessary, and should be done at the end of the leaf. The method is simply to cut off the small branches at the points, and leave all young shoots of the last year's growth, which will be the bearing branches the next year—the small off shoots are always unfruitful, and have a tendency to crowd the fruiting branches. Hence the principle of pruning. The Quince tree is a perennial, and should be planted in the autumn, in order to have it in bearing the next year.

FRESH ARRIVAL OF
I. L. ST. JOHN'S
ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.

 Knowledge of the value of these Pills is a thing necessary to bring them into general use as a family medicine. Thousands have at ren need him, who give him a decided preference to all other kinds. The proprietor is so confident of their virtues that he has instructed his agents that in case any person after giving them a trial, does not prefer them to Gregory's, Lee's, Peter's, and all other anti-billous Pills, if he the trouble will be taken to return the balance of the box, to refund the whole money. They are not like many of the quack medicines of the day; held up as an infallible cure for all diseases; but if (suppose) administered

We the undersigned citizens of Seneca county, Ohio, have made use of St. John's Pills, either ourselves or in our families, and consider them the best Pills in use for the Biliousness of this western country:

Wm. Long, Prosecuting Attorney; D. P. Conrad, Sheriff; W. H. Bender, County Recorder; John Rappaporter, Isaac Mandy, Gas Stover, and Isaac Weinman, Justices of the Peace; Israel P. Haines, Joseph Volmer, Nathan Graves, John Shioflet, John Michael, P. Beaver, Alexander Ingram, James D. Mann, W. Bangser, Michael Redmond, James C. Fennel, S. T. Appleton, John Price, L. M. Loomis, J. W. Patterson, Thomas Loyd, Isaac DrWH, John Swanson, Abraham Smith, Benjamin Perch, L.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.
The great demand for these pills has already induced unprincipled men to counterfeit them. The public are therefore cautioned against purchasing any that are not signed by the proprietor with a penman on the wrapper enclosing each box. To counterfeit which is a State's Prison offence.
